

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed generally to an adapter for use with enteral tubes or catheters, and more particularly to a product that enables the venting or decompression of enteric gases through an enteral catheter. The adapter is configured to allow continuous venting with reduced concern about liquid leakage or the need for the user to limit their activities or assume certain positions during venting.